

Dear Parents

Our public exams season is now over and I would like to thank Mr Kirby for managing all the complex arrangements with great efficiency and calm.

With one week to go, we look forward to an exciting Activities Week put together by Mrs Saliveros. Please ask your son or daughter to check what they are doing, read the arrangements carefully and come to school suitably prepared for whatever they are signed up for!

Activities Week Essentials

Please ensure that your son or daughter carries their own inhaler, epipen, insulin and glucose tablets etc with them during their activities next week. The weather forecast is looking good, so please encourage them to apply sun cream before coming to school and to bring their own sun cream with them to top up during the day. The pollen forecast is also likely to be high, so please don't forget antihistamines for hayfever sufferers.

Duke of Edinburgh Bronze and Silver Expeditions

One hundred and ten pupils and eleven staff were down on Exmoor last weekend for Bronze and Silver assessed expeditions. Blessed by three days of blue skies, the national park was looking at its best for the groups trekking along the coast, up wooded combes and over the moors. After a winter of rain and snow, it was a pleasant change to worry about getting too hot for once. Well done to all who took part: hopefully this will be the last section many will need in order to achieve their Award. I look forward to a flood of certificates in September.

Head of Outdoor Pursuits

Scorching Enrichment

With temperatures rising to 28 degrees on Thursday, students were enjoying the sunshine during their fourth and final Summer Enrichment session. Groups of students were biking in Ashton Court, playing rounders at Failand, running on the Downs, showing off their BMX skills and preparing for the upcoming rugby season, while some of their peers stayed in the shade and created stop-gap animations, edited the Elizabethan, baked delicious flapjacks, got to grips with complex electronics, improved their chess tactics and were introduced to Film Studies.

The last four weeks have seen the 430-plus students in Years 7-10 and Year 12 take part in a wide variety of activities, workshops and sessions and the students have enjoyed trying out new activities and further developing their various skills.

QEH Touch Rugby Tournament this Sunday!

This year's Touch Rugby tournament will take place at Failand on Sunday 1 July, from 12.30pm. An updated programme is attached and all spectators are very welcome to come and watch the event and enjoy the bar, BBQ and live music all afternoon. We look forward to seeing you there!

Mr E Gent

Bake and Book Sale

Thank you to all those who baked, donated books and came along to the sale to buy either or both! We have raised £128.60 so far for Teddy Mascaro's campaign run by 'Solving Kids Cancer'. The fundraising is to fund 18 month old Teddy's cancer treatment, as he was diagnosed with an aggressive form of neuroblastoma 2 months ago.

Jurassic World – Geography style!

All our Year 8s spent the day in the sunshine on Tuesday exploring aspects of Dorset's Jurassic Coast. We went looking for fossils at Charmouth, rummaging in the eroded remains of a 200 million year-old seabed for the internal shells of ancient squid (belemnites) and ammonites. Luckily, we were not disappointed and plenty of fossils were found. In Lyme Regis, we studied the attempts made to protect the town from attack by the sea before fitting in a quick visit to the ice cream shop.
